TWENTY CENTS

Rte. 129 Alternative Some prefer Proposal No. 10

Phase One, of the long umpteenth study of an alternative to Route 129, where it goes through Wilmington Square came to an end last night, with a public hearing at the Wilmington Library. It was conducted by the parties who are making the study. It was too late for coverage by this paper before it went to press.

But of those who had seen the plans before, such as members of the Wilmington Planning Board, the preference seems to be for Proposal No. 10. There has been no formal vote - merely expressions of opinion by three members. Two of the members expressed their opinion a week ago, and Arthur Harding, who happens to be the former Town Engineer, expanded on the subject Tuesday evening of this week.

The sixteen or seventeen proposals had been narrowed down to four, which were explained in the Town Crier two weeks ago.

Basically, two of them follow the present layout of Main Street and Loyout street. One of them is a 'do nothing' proposal and the other would widen the highway as much as possible, including the building of an elevated viaduct in the Wilmington Square area, over the railroad parking area, etc.

The third proposal was basically the route on which Rep. Fred Cain had been working before the Federal Government called for new signals - start at the bridge near Rocco's, and end up on Lowell Street, near Cain's garage.

Proposal Number 10 (the engineers call it Alternative No. 10) crosses Church Street, Parker Street, Molloy Road and Woburn Street, and dodges between Strout Avenue and Nickerson Avenue, being very close to the last house on the left hand side of Nickerson Ave.

Molloy Road would be closed to traffic. The end of Dartmouth Street would disappear.

The proposed road, which would be nearly 100 feet wide, would cross Parker Street at a distance of about 875 feet from Lowell Street. It would cross Woburn Street at a distance of about 600 feet from Lowell Street, and at the Tri Town Gas station the building might be left in position, but the pumps would disappear.

The present Lowell Street Park would be engulfed by the new highway, and there would be another street, like Lowell Street Park, but extending toward Wilmington from West Street for a similar distance.

The Planning Board has been interviewing several engineering firms, for advice on the problems that are being raised. Probably there will be no formal vote until the advice has been received.

Bill Hooper, chairman, and Joel Gardner a week ago said they preferred Number 10, the road that is parallel of and easterly of Lowell Street. They were the first town officials to indicate a choice.

Tuesday of this week Mr. Harding made a statement which was almost an engineer's analysis.

"It will do the job," he said, "but is it really the solution? The cars will be able to get from Route 93 to the Richmond Street (near Rocco's, ed) Bridge quickly. It appears to be a limited access highway. It certainly will help the residents of Lowell Street, - no doubt about it. But I would like to see more information before I pass judgement."

An archeological dig at the Harnden Tavern

CURT CHAPIN, with a metal sweeper, is watched by Gary Robicheaud, student, and Steve O'Brien, high school teacher.

A brass button, from the early nineteenth century, and a few other artifacts were gleaned, Saturday, in an archeological dig at the northwest corner of the Harnden Tavern.

Inspired by Steve O'Brien, history teacher in the High School, the dig was under the direction of Curt Chapin of Lincoln, an architectural historian affiliated with the Society for the Preservation of Antiquities, in Boston.

That site shouldn't have produced much.

First, Dr. Silas Brown, after purchasing the tavern, had a cellar put in, about 1818. That of course, disturbed the earth around the tavern.

Secondly, the good doctor and his family were frugal people, who just didn't go around dropping things for future historians to find.

Thirdly, the sewer main goes out from the northwest corner, and there is a good chance that the main was put in about 1925. That was the year Town water was put in. Digging for a sewer is a recognized method of disturbing the ground.

Probably a better site for a dig would have been at the Dummer homewhich was northeasterly of the tavern, and burned down about 1738-39. It faced the old road that went around the hill which is easterly of the tavern.

Samuel Dummer and family, complete with slaves, had one of the nicest homes in what is now Wilmington. It was built about 1726. Mr. Dummer had just emigrated from the West Indies, where he had been raising sugar. His brother was the Lt. Governor of Massachusetts, and Samuel Dummer Esq. became the Sheriff of Middlesex County and the first Moderator of Wilmington.

Mr. Dummer passed on to his reward in 1738, and shortly afterwards the home burned down. The Town Crier editor has searched for the site, which is not on town property. The search was unsuccessful.

Probably the last person to know where the Dummer home was would be George Hathaway, Capt. USN, a son of the Maria Hathaway for whom the home was known, half a century ago. Capt. Hathaway passed on, about the years ago.

Special Town Meeting delayed to January?

The oft talked about special town meeting, in which the voters of Wilmington can have a choice of school building, in one of several presentations, will not occur until December or January. So Arthur Smith, chairman of the Permanent Building Committee, told the Finance Committee, Monday evening.

Smith emphasized that it would be the School Committee that would be asking for the calling of the special town meeting.

The PBC is preparing plans, preliminary, for a new high school. One alternative to be offered the voters is for a high school off Salem Street, near the Wildcat Railroad. The other is for an enlargement of the present school, together with the construction of a new grammar school, of the Woburn Street School type.

A new high school, of about 236 to 240 thousand square feet, would cost about $12.7 millions at Salem Street, Smith said, and another million would have to be spent in equipping it.

The cost of enlarging the present high school would be, according to preliminary figures, $13.1 millions. To this would be added the cost of a new grammar school, about $3.5 millions.

In neither case, Smith emphasized, are sewerage construction costs included. The only costs included in this direction, is to construct sewer lines to the street where new sewers would have to be installed.

Smith was firmly against the construction of on-the-site sewer beds or systems, in either case. He declared it would be a waste of money. The present terminus near Eames Street to a point near the Salem Street site. No money has BASTABLE HONORED: The new addition at Shawsheen Tech will be dedicated to Joseph E. Bastable of Tewksbury, a former administrator at that school and former school superintendent in Tewksbury.

Shawsheen Tech addition named for Bastable

Area taxpayers, citizens and parents are invited to view the new addition at Shawsheen Tech in Billerica Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. A formal dedication ceremony will be scheduled before the Open House at 1 p.m. in the school cafeteria to which the general public is invited.

School Committee Chairman John G. Murphy announced this week that the $5 million expansion will be dedicated to Joseph E. Bastable, a former administrator before the original building opened in September 1974.

Keynote speaker at the dedication ceremony will be Dr. Patrick J. Weagraff, Associate Commissioner of Occupational Education for the Commonwealth.

Shawsheen's expansion doubles the enrollment to 1,400 students. It was designed by Korslund, LeNormand and Quann of Norwood and was constructed by Lusalon, Inc., Chelmsford.

Benjamin Wolk, superintendent-director of Shawsheen Tech urges area citizens, parents and students to attend the Open House. Instructors, he said, will be on hand in shop and academic areas to describe and explain curriculum and all aspects of school life at Shawsheen Tech.

"This is an ideal opportunity for young students and parents to view first hand a vocational school in the mid-seventies and to learn about the alternatives vocational education offers," said Wolk, adding "it will also give taxpayers a chance to see how their dollars are used."

What size watermain for Jewel Drive?

The Wilmington Board of Water Commissioners and Bill Myers and friends have been having a discussion for the past three weeks about the size of the water main to go under the proposed Jewel Drive, in East Wilmington, off Eames Street.

Mr. Myers, who lives on Wilton Drive, is the president of the company which is taking over the Urban Redevelopment project in East Wilmington. The one street that is being planned is Jewel Drive, named for the company which employs Mr. Myers and friends.

Everything is practically at Go, except what size is the watermain to be? Maybe there are other questions, but that one has taken three weeks of discussion.

Originally an eight inch water main was planned. That's bigger than the water mains on some streets, and perhaps it can be said to be average size, in many of the streets in Wilmington.

Paul Hanglin, who is in charge of the engineering for Jewel, thinks that perhaps a 10 inch water main might be a better size.

Arnold Blake, former chairman, and George Allen, present chairman of the Water Commissioners think that a 12 inch water main would be better. They have been telling Myers and friends that perhaps one of the companies which will locate on Jewel Drive will really want a lot of water. Hanglin points out that you can really get a lot of water through a 10 inch water main.

BILL MYERS (in front of US flag), and friends Paul Hanglin and Robert Bertwell talking about water mains with Water Commissioners George Allen and Arnold Blake.

The difference in cost is in the vicinity of $6 thousand.

Kay Wood honored at Choate

Kay Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wood of 39 Butters Row, Wilmington, was among 60 teenagers from Woburn, Burlington, Billerica and Wilmington who gave Choate Memorial Hospital a total of 3,560 of their vacation time last summer to perform chores ranging from delivering mail and flowers to bed patients, to entertaining children in the pediatrics unit.

Honored recently at a Choate sponsored Coke Party, these Volunteers, ranging in age from 14 to 17, worked at the hospital an average of four hours a week and were recognized for having accumulated from 50 to 300 hours of service each.

"This is a great bunch of kids," said Mrs. Jeannette West, the Hospital's Director of Volunteers, "they are here because they want to help people. Many of them are also scanting out career possibilities in the medical field," she said.

In addition to serving as general assistants to the nurses, Volunteers are also exposed to many other hospital functions and departments, including xray, laboratory, development and community relations and the coffee and gift shop.

Town Meeting

been voted for construction of sewers toward the present high school.

Mr. Smith as asked the costs of construction, for sewer mains of this type. His "rough guess" was that it would be about $100 a foot.

Speaking of the present high school, Smith said that any school in Massachusetts which is to be enlarged over 55% the entire school must be brought up to present day standards. This was one reason for the costs which he cited.

Joe Hartka of the PBC explained the thinking that is going into the present planning for the high school enlargement.

He pointed out that in the present planning pupils going from one classroom to another must meet in the hallways, and as a result there is a conflict in traffic. The plans for the new high school, as enlarged, would have circular traffic patterns.

The present Herbert C. Barrows auditorium would be changed to a library. The present cafeteria would be much enlarged. There would be high school building construction where the Roman House, tennis courts and maintenance buildings are presently located.

Smith estimated the time of construction at 2½ years, for either Salem Street or the present site.

Town Manager Sterling Morris, who was also present, told the Finance Committee that if an enlargement of present high school facilities was voted there would have to be a new maintenance garage. By this he meant that the former Roman barn, now a maintenance building, would be gone.

Smith said the thing to do would be to pick it up and put it somewhere else - possibly near the present town garage. This could also be done, he said, to the Roman House, which is now the office of the Superintendent of Schools.

ED THOMPSON MEETS THE FINANCE COMMITTEE: The newest member of the Permanent Building Committee, Ed Thompson of 59 Salem Street (right) had little to say in his first meeting with the Finance Committee, Monday evening. He spent the evening just listening.

Who was the mason who built the arches in the Harnden chimney?

Who was the mason who built the base of the huge chimney in the Harnden Tavern?

He is today an unknown artisan, but he was a man of skill, and the Harnden Tavern is but one of the places in this part of the Commonwealth in which he left proof of his ability.

The Tavern was built just prior to the Revolution. Of that there is now no doubt as the date has been established by Mrs. Alice Dillaway, the former Alice Hathaway, and a fifth generation descendant of the Dr. Silas Brown who purchased the old tavern in 1816.

Regular readers of the Town Crier will recall that, on the occasion of the Open House, after the tavern had been acquired by the Town of Wilmington, visitors were told it was constructed about 1776. The Town Crier, after its editor had an opportunity to inspect the cellar, disputed this.

The stonework in the chimney was of a style that proclaimed it to be early nineteenth century. In addition there were some hard bricks, known to masons as "Bristol brick" used in the base of that chimney, mixed in with some of the locally made softer brick.

Bristol brick was made in England, and up to the time of the Revolution was used as a ballast by ships bound to the Colonies. It was hard, and was an excellent brick for fireplaces, but also was an expensive brick, more expensive than the softer brick made in backyard kilns throughout Middlesex County.

The Colonials made brick where they found the clay to be of the right consistency. There was some such clay off the present Sheridan Road, in North Wilmington, where quite evidently brick was made for the Harnden Tavern, and for the Joseph Harnden House, which stood nearby on Woburn Street. There was another such clay bed off Glen Road, about opposite the present Drury Lane, and there was another such clay bed on the banks of the Shawsheen River, near where the K of C Hall is today.

Anyway, after the Town Crier disputed the date, based on the evidence great grandfather, Dr. Brown had a cellar dug and put under the house after he bought it. The year was probably 1818.

Which brings the reader to the question - who was the mason who put in the base of the chimney, after the cellar was dug? Was he the same mason who constructed the cellar walls?

The walls of the cellar are well built. The mason who did the work was a skillful person. There are no chisel marks. The stones were "broken," to use a phrase, but were not cut - at least there is no evidence of the cutting.

The stones under the sill are of granite which was quarried and dressed, and the work is of high quality. As a guess those stones are from either Chelmsford or Quincy, and were transported to Wilmington on barges in the Middlesex Canal, and thence by ox cart to the doctor's home.

The mason who built the new foundation for the chimney, after the cellar had been dug, had to be a skillful man. He may have been the same man who put in the foundation for the chimney.

The chimney has six fireplaces, four on the first floor and two on the second. There are eight to ten thousand bricks in that chimney, and it follows that there is a considerable weight.

That chimney had to be kept up in the air while the mason built a new foundation underneath it.

Because of the size of the chimney it would have taken four or five thousand bricks to build a new foundation. But the mason was a skillful man, and he introduced arches into that foundation, and thus saved some thousands of bricks from having to be used.

Those arches are well constructed, and a person who knows masonry can recognize instantly that they were made by a man who not only knew what he was doing, but who constructed similar arches in foundations wherever he worked.

His handiwork can be seen in the cellar of the Nichols Funeral Home, and in other cellars in Wilmington. It can also be seen in Tewksbury, one of the places being the old Masonic Hall, in Tewksbury Center.

Who was this mason, who could plan those arches, and save construction costs and time? He had to arrive at a point where the bricks supported the old chimney, and this without causing the old chimney to collapse on top of him. He was a skillful man, and yet no one seems to know his name.

The Harnden Tavern chimney is currently being rebuilt, at the top, by John Galvin of Wakefield, a man who has been in business since 1931, and who specializes in the repair of Colonial and near Colonial chimneys. Mr. Galvin has seen four chimneys which were built by the same mason who worked on the Harnden Harnden Tavern. The only place he could recall, however, was the Luellan Farm, in Bedford, where John rebuilt the fireplace.

ROBERT L. SOPER: Newly elected president of the Wilmington Kiwanis Club accepts the gavel from Past President Gordon R. Richburg. Other officers for the 1975-76 season include: Vice President David J. Gagnon; Second Vice President Carl R. Smith; Treasurer Olin M. London; Secretary Leo V. Gittzus.

5 TOWN CRIER, OCTOBER 30, 1975

The Harnden chimney is being retopped

The chimney of the Harnden Tavern is being retopped by John Galvin, a Wakefield man who has been a mason since 1931, and who specializes in reconstruction of ancient brickwork.

Above: Mr. Galvin and helpers on the roof of the historic tavern. Below: John Galvin went into the cellar to inspect the work of the unknown mason who constructed the base under the chimney, in 1818. The arch is a typical work of that mason, and may be seen in three houses down at Nichols Corner (Wildwood St. and Middlesex Ave.) and in the old Masonic Tavern in Tewksbury.

5 PM Tuesday is shut off time

Too much of a good thing is too much!

The Town Crier has long had 5 pm Tuesday as a shut-off time, for advertisements and stories.

It was a fine idea, but too many people took advantage of the good nature of the Town Crier employees. Copy that came in after 5 pm has been set, with the net result that the publication time was delayed, and the Town Crier just didn't get out on time Thursday mornings.

Town Crier employees are now going to be stern and ruthless people. (Well, almost). Copy that comes in after 5 pm is going to get the old Heave Ho.

Please, try to get that copy in before Noon, on Tuesdays.

Central is for real, 13-8

If anyone doubted Lawrence Central don't anymore. The Red Raiders came back to edge Wilmington 13-8 last Saturday. It was the second loss in a row for the Wildcats as their record dipped to 3-2-1.

Central took the opening kickoff back to the Wildcat 39. In third and fourth a short pass was turned into a long gain down to the eight. Three plays later Pat Welch scored Lawrence's first goal in two years. The kick was perfect for a 7-0 Raider lead.

At the end of the wuarter Wilmington got moving. Taking over on the 48 Gordie Fitch moved the ball down to the 28 on a 24 yard sweep. From there Wilmington moved the ball on the ground where Stewart snuck in from the one. Mark Esposito blasted through for the conversion and an 8-7 halftime lead.

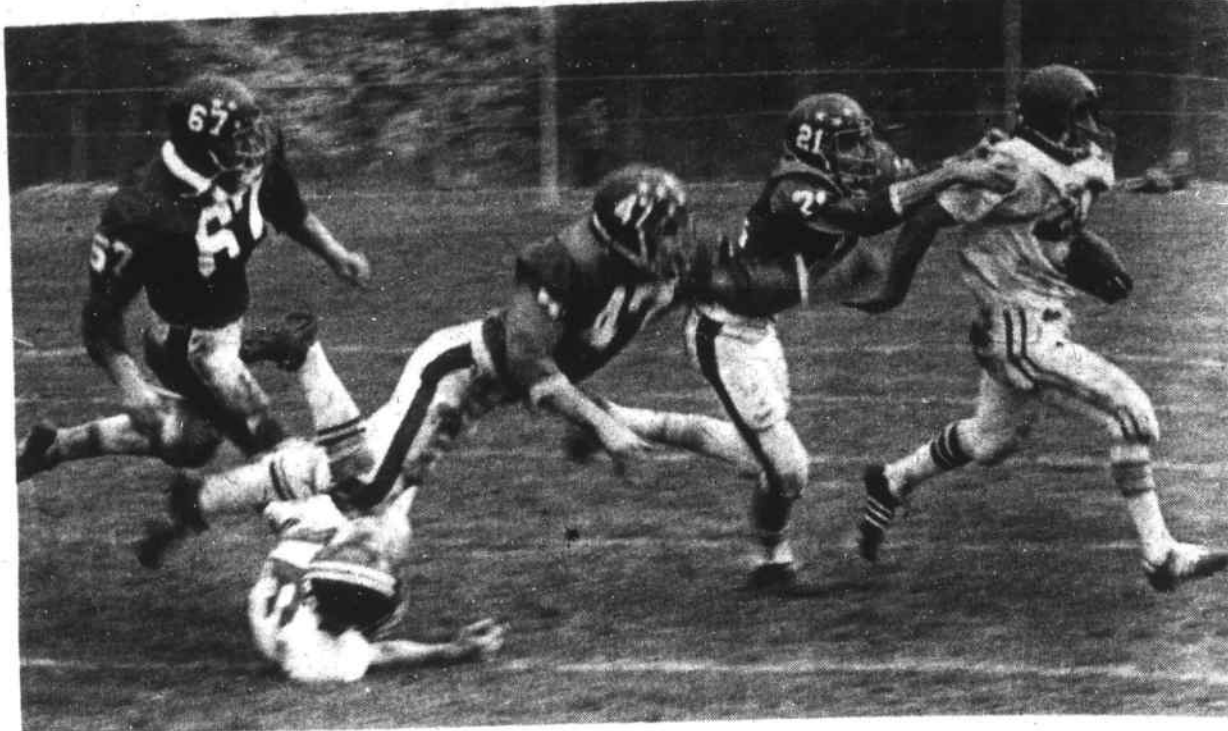

In the third stanza Central marched from the Wilmington 49 to paydirt. Central got two holding penalties and was faced with third and 24. Barry Gearin hauled in a big catch for 28 yards and a first down. Pat Welch caught another pass on third down for 21 more yards and the Raiders were in business on the 17. Five running plays brought the ball to the four where Rocky Riviezz scored untouched.

Wilmington had one more chance to win it in the fourth quarter but as in the Andover game mistakes killed them as the game ended Wilmington was on the 16 yard line.

Jim Stewart was three for nine for 66 yards and he suffered one interception. Gordie Fitch and Bob Sferrazza lead all ground gainers each chalking up 41 yards.

Saturday Wilmington journeys to Dracut to face a tough Middle squad that is coming off a big win over Tewksbury.

WILDCATS' RAY GAUD: (67), Les

Peabody (47), and Ricky Aprile (21) are in hot pursuit of Central speedster Rocky Riviezzo.

Easy week for MVC contenders

The Andover Golden Warriors, Tewksbury Redmen, and Lawrence Central RED Raiders should get a bit of a breather this week before the reak head-knocking for the top four slots in the conference starts in the drive for traditional Turkey Day battles.

Central remains in a dead-heat with Andover while Dracut, Tewksbury, Austin and Wilmington all have outside shots at the top slot.

Despite the supposed dominance there is still an MVC football race heading into the sixth week of conference play.

Dracut has been the most surprising team in the league with the Chelmsford Lions settling into their usually disappointing finish. Wilmington has been super-strong defensively with the Austin Cougars doing some early damage behind the running and passing of quarterback Chuck Gaudet.

The big showdowns are to come in this league. Central must take on Andover and Tewksbury, but the Red Raiders have already beaten down on echallenge with last week's win over the Wilmington Wildcats at Wilmington.

Lawrence, Billerica and Methuen look to be easy pickings for the top clubs from here on and this coming week the contenders have a golden opportunity to feast on the weaker sisters.

But the best football is yet to come. The Central confrontations with Andover and Tewksbury should be top football fare for local fans. Don't forget those Middies, for the pre-season "dark horse" could become a serious title contender with another win this week. The "pick-em" record - 12 right, 4 wrong.

Wilmington at Dracut Once again the tough Wildcat defense (41 points allowed) is faced with a challenge. Dracut took advantage of every Tewksbury mistake in their 20-8 romp over the Redmen as the Middies moved right into the thick of the MVC race.

Dracut's Mike Parent is a quick quarterback who can get to the outside to avoid that burly Wildcat defensive middle. Tewksbury made some early mistakes and it cost them. If Wilmington avoids mistakes and controls the football it's a Wildcat win. Wilmington by six points. Could be a defensive struggle.

Tewksbury at Methuen: Tewksbury beat the Rangers 27-0 last year and it was a colossal bore. Methuen may take quite a beating again as Tewksbury is coming off a disappointing loss. Look for halfback Ricky Mackey to have a big day and the Redmen defensive front will be looking to come back after the Dracut pounding. Tewksbury by 27 points.

Lawrence at Andover: The party is over for the Lancers after their first win. Andover will have a passing field day against Lawrence. Mitch Rousseau is the best passing quarterback in the conference - and to think he was Andover's second string quarterback at the start of the year. Andover by 21 points.

Austin Prep at Chelmsford: The Cougars of Austin will see a bigger team - and will have trouble. Chelmsford is long overdue and they should run well at Prep. Austin quarterback Chuck Gaudet could test a weak Lion secondary. If Chelmsford doesn't win their season will be more than a disappointment - it will be a disaster. Chelmsford by eight points.

Billerica at Central: Billerica had a shot at a win last week and blew it. Central smells a championship now and they can't afford to lose to a weak team at this point. Could be a real blow-out. Central by 14 points.

Nashua bests Recs, 2-1

Sunday, Oct. 26: The Wilmington Recs forced the league leading Nashua Club to the limit in the feature game of a four set at Skate 3. The Leafettes, defending champs of the MVGHL jumped out to an early 1-0 lead, which held up until 3:40 of the last frame when Cheryl Cushing drove home her fourth seasonal tally with Laura Miller assisting.

However, the Nashua girls kept the pressure on and eventually put the winning goal on the board at 8:06 of the last stanza. The entire Recs squad played a superb game. Goalie Cathy Bristol was brilliant in the Wilmington nets, stopping all but two of the 15 Leafette shots.

Female Wildcats still winning

As the end of the season draws near, the Wilmington girls field hockey team has come out of three more games victoriously.

The first of the three games was played against Dracut on home ground last Tuesday. Senior Laura Miller was outstanding as she kept Dracut's star player contained. Captain Lynda Pintrich also did her job, playing an excellent defensive as well as a great offensive game. Adding to the fantascit efforts of her teammates, Diane Pumfrey played well also. The offense produced only one goal as the final score was 1-0. The goal was off the stick of Sheila Burns.

On Friday the girls traveled to Chelmsford to tame the Lions and once more cam eout on top of a 6-0 decision. This victory was the result of excellent team work by Sheila Burns, Barb Moulton, Tish Hadfield, Ellen O'Rourke and Captain Lynda Pintrich. The goals were scored by Sheila Burns with her second hat trick of the season; Barb Moulton with two goals to her credit that game; Gale Smith with one, making the final score 6-0.

This game was one of the many shutouts by goalie Anne Gagnon as there has been only four goals scored on her this season.

On Saturday morning the girls awoke early and managed to gain yet another victory, this time against an aggressive Methuen Team. The goal was scored by Sheila Burns, the team's leading scorer this season. The score ended 1-0. Once again fine efforts were displayed by Jane Conlin, Ellen O'Rourke, Laura Miller and Captain Lynda Pintrich.

Wildcats boot tenth win

The Wildcats soccer team won its ninth straight, to become the first local squad to qualify for '75 Eastern Mass. Schoolboy Tournament, in fourth consecutive year.

At the North field on Friday, Oct. 24, the Wildcats were victors over Lawrence Voke 2-1.

Tri-Capt. high scorer Paul Marasco started Wilmington on the road to the win at 5:35 of the first period with assistance from Eric Wood. The score remained 1-0 until junior right wing Jim Logan netted the game winning goal at 2:09 of the third period with assistance from Ron Deveau. Lawrence Reggie's spoiled goalie Dave McMillan's shutout bid at 12:58 of the third period on an unassisted goal by Juan Castillo. The fourth period passed scorelessly.

On Tuesday, Oct. 28, the Wildcats took their straight win, this time from Shawsheen Tech with a 5-0 shutout.

The first period went scoreless. Tri-Capt. Dan Burns put Wilmington on the scoreboard in the second stanza with assistance from senior forward Ron Deveau. Dan Burns scored two unassisted goals in the third period for game hat trick. In the fourth stanza sophomore left wing Eric Wood scored on an assist from senior back Dan Burns.

The final goam came halfway through the fourth by Tri-Capt Paul Marasco on assist from junior back Steve Winchell. Final Reg. season games are St. John's at the North this Friday and Methuen next Tuesday at Methuen.

Laquidara standout in Squirt Action; posts three shutouts

TOWN CRIER, OCTOBER 30, 1975

Squirt A (5-1-0)

Shut out number three for Ed Laquidara! Goals against average, 1.0, six games played, six goals against.

A strong effort spearheaded by another great job in the nets gave the A's their fifth season victory. Haverhill fell victim to the solid two way hockey played getting only 13 shots on net while allowing Wilmington 25 shots and two goals.

John Robson took a pass from Paul Brady and fired a 40 foot shot from just inside the blue line to bring down the game winner with 51 seconds left in period one.

The shot broke off the Haverhill goalie's glove as John split the defenseman and blasted a high shot in the top left corner. Haverhill, never really could get their offense going as they incurred nine penalties while Wilmington played defensive hockey protecting their one goal lead.

With 2:21 to go in the game, Jim Newhouse and Kevin Smith combined to put in the insurance score and put the game on ice. Jim picked up the puck at Haverhill's blue line and fought his way to the net where he layed a perfect pass on Kevin's stick and Kevin slid it by the goalie.

The A's take on Danvers in next week's game at 10:30 a.m. Sunday.

Pee Wee A 6-2-0

In a very even game played on Wednesday, Oct. 22, the A's beat a good Danvers team 2-1. The first score of the night went to David Kidd, assisted by Mark Boudreau and Keith Ford at 8:17 of period two.

At 8:18 of period three, Bob Lowney fed Mark Boudreau who head manned the puck to Keith Ford, who went in to score the A's second goal. Only two minutes later Danvers scored their only goal of the night. Stretch Storer was called upon to make a number of excellent saves in period three as Danvers put on the pressure trying to tie the game.

Pee Wee B 6-0-0

The B's continued undefeated and untied in the Wilmington Youth Hockey League, beating Somerville 5-2 Saturday. Coach MacDonald's lads put on a display of fine positional hockey limiting Somerville to only 14 shots on goal.

With team play prevailing, the scoring was divided among 10 players with no one garnering more than a goal and an assist. John Cushing and Gordon Smith each had a goal and an assist with Jeff Stouffer and Fran Turner popping in rebounds. Frank Newark scooped up a loose puck late in the game scoring the only unassisted goal on a beautiful one on one with the Somerville goal tender. In the Wilmington nets, Bill Redler made two fine saves to thwart the Somerville attack early in the game.

Sunday afternoon, the Wildcats, (1-2-0) competed in the Interstate Hockey League in Tyngsboro and defeated the team from Southern New Hampshire 4-1 for their first league win against "A" competition in three starts.

Ted Moran who took a hard check against the boards at center ice put the Wildcats on the score board first with the assist to brother Mike. Gordon Smith wheeled in from the red line early in the second period for an unassisted goal with line mates John Cushing and Mike Moran camped on the goal line waiting for rebounds.

The scoring in the third period proved to be all Bob Williams, the first assisted by Mike Moran and the other unassisted.

The B's put their undefeated status on the line next Saturday at 7 a.m. in the Wilmington Arena against an also undefeated South Boston squad.

On Sunday in Tyngsboro at 3:20 p.m. the Wildcats go after the Westford A team.

Bantam A

Rising to the challenge presented by a powerful undefeated Somerville team, Wilmington played by far its best game of the season, only to go down to a 3-1 defeat. The goaltending of Joe Iozzo and the great defensive work of Howell, Mugford, LaLiberte and Vellozo was outstanding.

Defenseman Hughes of Somerville scored at the three minute mark of the first period, and it remained 1-0 until after a minute left in the that period Hughes scored again on a screened shot from the right point on a power play.

Midway through the second period Stephen Mickle brought the team to within one when he deftly lifted a quick shot from six feet out over the Somerville goaltender's outstretched right leg. Matt Kmon received a hard earned assist for his persistent digging behind the net with a quick feed-out. Midway through the final period Hughes picked up his hat trick by duplicating his second goal, also on a power play. The aggressive play of the Wilmington team resulted in four third period penalties which hindered attempts to muster a come-from-behind effort.

The next game will be played this evening, October 30 at 8:10 against Chelmsford.

Bantam B 3-2-0

Coming off a two game losing streak the B's bounced back into the win column last Monday night with a big 5-3 victory over the previously undefeated Haverhill club.

Penalty free first period action displayed some high caliber hockey by both teams. With only seconds remaining it seemed the period would end scorelessly. As the clock ticked off its final seconds, Steve Connolly assisted by Pat Palmer slid the puck home ending the period with Wilmington out in front 1-0.

Only three minutes and thirty-two seconds of period two had gone by when Haverhill found the equalizer tying the score at one each. A new contest was underway and for nearly five minutes both teams looked for the go-ahead goal. With 3:25 left in the period Wilmington jumped out in front with a goal by Paul Boudreau assisted by Mike Beatrice and Mark Lanni. Less than one minute later Haverhill knotted the score at 2-2.

In period three Haverhill took the lead for the first time in the game on a power play goal at the midway mark. With 3:56 left, Paul Boudreau assisted by Scott Richards found his mark tying the game once more at three all. Fifteen seconds later, assisted by Mike Beatrice Paul Boudreau with the hat trick put the B's out in front 4-3. In the final minute of play with an empty net Steven Connolly unassisted took the puck off tory once again.

Anyone age 18 or over is eligible to participate in this favorite activity. Games are played in an informal atmosphere with no importance placed upon prior experience or ability.

The program is offered free of charge to Wilmington residents.

Trojans defeat Redskins 22-6

The Redskins were receivers on the opening kick off with a first down on their 35 yard line. The defense of the Redskins and Trojans were hitting hard and fast which created havoc on the offensive lines of both teams. After a series of fumbles, two for each team, the Redskins had control of the ball on their 16 yard line. On third down, six yards to go the Trojan defense exploded with L. Fraser, T. Quinn and B. Davis forcing a safety for the first two points of the game. The Trojan offense began to get more aggressive with a 17 yard first down and an end sweep by R. Stumpf of the Trojans for the first touchdown with the Trojans leading 8-0.

The Redskins, down byt not out came back very strongly with B. Bemis, R. Stumpf (Redskins) and R. Irwin applying a lot of pressure on the Trojans when R. Irwin was hit hard and fumbled which was recovered by A. Macdonald of the Trojans. With good blocking on the offensive line the Trojans were able to set up R. Stumpf (Trojans) for their second touchdown. At the end of the half it was Trojans 14, Redskins 0.

The second half showed excellent defense of both teams when S. Baker of the Trojans finally broke out for a 28 yard gain when he was brought down on the Redskins three yard line. The next play was a short pass by R. Stumpf (Trojans) to J. Murray for their third touchdown with T. Robarge running the conversion. Trojans 22, Redskins 0.

The Redskins, undaunted, kept up the pressure when W. Barrett intercepted a Trojan pass and R. Stumpf (Redskins) with a gain of 30 yards were able to score their only touchdown.

The Redskins, undaunted, kept up the pressure when W. Barrett intercepted a Trojan pass and R. Stumpf (Redskins) with a gain of 30 yards were able to score their only touchdown.

Both teams can be very proud that they played outstandingly on defense and offense. Great credit goes to the coaching staff as well as the boys themselves. Credit should also be given to the cheerleaders, they can really make a team feel up for a game with all their terrific cheers.

Golden Bears tie Dolphins

Last Sunday morning the Dolphins squared away against the Golden Bears. In a hard fought contest the two teams ended up in a tie.

In the first half the Dolphins came out with a bang. With the hard running of S. Kelly, K. Mace and E. Olshaw the Dolphins scored first. S. Kelly lead the way with some terrific open field running, one jaunt went for 33 yards. K. Mace finally taking the ball over from five yards out. G. Boudreau scoring the two point conversion.

In the second quarter the Dolphins kept up their offensive punch by scoring again on a 28 yard pass play from quarterback T. Sanville to S. Kelly. The two point conversion failed. On the next kick off the Golden Bears came right back with a sensational run of 55 yards by D. Staffiere to put the ball on the two yard line, from there C. Athanasia ran it over for their first six points. The half ended with the score 14 to six, Dolphins lead.

The second half the defense on both sides was just great. N. DeFelice, W. Gange, C. Davis, J. Lothian, S. Obeirne and the rest of the team for the Dolphins really stood their ground. For the Golden Bears the standouts for both defense and offense were M. Mackey, S. Dalev, M. Gugliotta,

Bits & Pieces

Well they might!

According to one who should know, the occupants of Room 271, WHS received an apologetic note from the administration last week and well they might. The oversight was completely unintentional, but a spirited "tip of the old fedora" is certainly in order.

Last week the Town Crier carried a story stating that home room 120 (Mrs. Eileen Malay's room) had chalked up a record 11 days of perfect attendance. This is most definitely a fine accomplishment and should have been given the notice that it was.

However, it came to the attention of those in charge last week that Mr. Cote's home room, (217) had racked up a total of 23 days perfect attendance and had been inadvertently overlooked.

Undoubtedly, a good deal of the credit for these accomplishments is due the new attendance system initiated this year: some is due to the cooperation of teachers and parents, but even more, perhaps is due the students themselves.

Tewksbury couple

A Tewksbury couple, married 25 years were the guests of honor at a gala surprise party held at their Shawsheen St. home on Saturday, Oct. 18.

Doris and Clesson Downs were married at St. Thomas Church, Wilmington on Oct. 1, 1950 and a reception followed at Silver Lake Betterment Hall. Their anniversary celebration was delayed slightly while the sponsors awaited the arrival of the honored couple's son John, who was recently discharged from the army and returned home on Friday evening.

On hand for the festivities was the entire wedding party including: maid-of-honor, Irene (Richards) Murphy of Woburn; best man, Joe Flynn of Stoneham; bridesmaids Phyllis (Muse) Hailey of Wilmington and Gertrude (Richards) Greeley of Waltham; and ushers Jim Richards (formerly of Wilmington) of Seabrook, N.H. and Francis Downs of Wilmington.

Perhaps a "tip of the hat" is in order for Irene Richards Murphy, who on the evening of the anniversary celebration, was attired in the same gown she wore at the wedding 25 years ago. It fit beautifully!

Holy snapshots!

Batman and Robin seldom make appearances these days, even on television. But, last Thursday, Tom Kennison of Salem Street, Wilmington was walking in Boston, and there in front of him was Bert Ward, who played Robin in the Dynamic Duo. Dressed up in his "working clothes," Ward was doing a television stunt near Berkley Street.

Tom is a photography student at the nearby Franklin Institute, so while Robin was going through his "Pow-Biff-Crash" routine, Tom was taking it all in with his Minolta. Click!

Sharon Fullerton to wed David Grist

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Fullerton of 52 Federal St., Wilmington have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Ann, to David Benjamin Grist, son of Mrs. John Grist of Rabun Gap, Georgia.

Sharon is a junior elementary education major at Warren Wilson College in Swannanoa, North Carolina and David is an elementary teacher in the Buncombe County school system in South Carolina.

A wedding is planned for next summer.

THE WILMINGTON DIRECTORY: And two of its makers. A hand-drawn map of Wilmington, with electronic equipment to light small bulbs at schools, historic places, etc. in response to the pushing of a button, is displayed by two of its makers, Ed Thompson of 59 Salem Street and Don Logan of 7 Marcia Road.

A group of dads, of children in the Woburn Street School, have been working for some months preparing what promises to be a special gift to the people of Wilmington.

They have been making an attractive, fully electrified display featuring a six foot map of Wilmington, hand drawn, and a push button panel, by which visitors can locate some of the places of recreational or historical interest in Wilmington. All public buildings are also shown, including the schools.

To find a building, or desired position, one simply pushes the appropriate button, on the panel, and a bulb lights up, in the map.

Don Logan, Gregg Phillips, Ed

Thompson and Jim Surrrette have put in over 500 man hours on the project, first meeting in each others homes, and then, on Thursday nights, in the Woburn Street School and in Don's woodworking shop in Tewksbury. Mr. Logan and Mr. Surrrette live on Marcia Road. Mr. Phillips on High Street, and Mr. Thompson, who, incidentally is the latest appointee to the Permanent Building Committee of Wilmington, lives at 59 Salem Street.

The money for the materials was donated by the school's Parent Advisory Council.

The finished project is almost ready for display, and plans are being discussed to donate it to the Wilmington Public Library.

WHS Reading Center honored

Wilmington High School's Reading Center has been cited as an exemplary program in a special Right to Read issue of Kaleidoscope '75, a State Department of Education publication.

Dr. Carol Sayer, director of reading for the Wilmington Public Schools is quite pleased with the program's being recognized after only two years.

"The Reading Center is the focus of a host of programs" said Dr. George Eisenberg, high school principal. It provides students of all abilities with the opportunity to improve their reading and study skills. Students planning to go to college can learn how to read faster and can learn to read more effectively.

The Reading Center strives to meet the individual needs of all the high school students. Students in need of remedial services constitute the bulk of the people who avail themselves of the services of the Reading Center.

Back from Hawaii

On October 14, Mrs. Ruth Faulkner of Brentwood Ave., Wilmington returned home following a weeks vacation in Hawaii.

Mrs. Faulkner said that Wakiki is a land of ever loving people and ever lovely flowers. The food is wonderful and Don Ho's nightclub offers an opportunity to be kissed by him to anyone interested enough to step onto the stage.

According to Mrs. Faulkner, no racial over or undertones exist in Hawaii and there is no need for a policeman on every corner. Leaving Hawaii was both a happy and sad event - "glad to be going home, but sad to leave all that loveliness."

Mrs. Faulkner was accompanied on her trip by Harriet Carver of North Woburn.

Forces bussing?

One day last week as a group of WHS freshmen were poring over their books during a study period, a member of the staff entered and ordered them all out of the room and onto a waiting bus.

No information was offered the students who were told simply to board the bus and take a seat - every seat must be occupied and every person must be in a seat - "We're taking you for a ride." Forces bussing at Wilmington High School? - Unthinkable!!

Within minutes the mystery was solved, the bus and its occupants was taken to a local sand and gravel operation and weighed. Authorities wished to know (for safety reasons) just how much a school bus weighs when it's full of students.
